SARA BRACEWELL

WEB DEVELOPER

Passionate developer solving real world problems and taking projects from good to great. Outgoing person with years of communication and project management skills. Enjoys working with a diverse and collaborative team. Excited to work for an firm that believes in work-life balance, flexibility, and that values their staff as much as their clients.

ABOUT ME

I have a background in landscape design and general contracting. I paused that career to move to Hawaii and start raising a family. After living there for 3 years we moved back to Minnesota for love of the four seasons and desire to be with extended family. I started working part-time so I could continue raising my family. I found a great job working at a marketing firm as their office manager. My position then became client coordinator where my fascination with coding and web development began. I have now completed a six month intensive full stack coding program at the University of Minnesota and am ready to take what I have learned to the next level.
